

'ROUND 'N' 'ROUND

It's big game day today and big game night tonight. Which means there will be plenty of celebrating for the winners and plenty of mourning for the losers.

No matter if California or Stanford have had a poor season, the big game will always be the big game to thousands of Californians and Stanfordites.

The welcome of the Galloping Gaels to San Francisco yesterday is something that will linger in the minds of the football players for some time.

When one takes all facts into consideration, St. Mary's has leaped into the spotlight in a remarkably short time.

Only a few years ago the school was an old brick pile on Broadway, in Oakland. Only those who attended the college knew about it.

But as the result of its football victories, St. Mary's is now known in every state of the Union.

Continuing with football, the Army-Navy game in New York should draw a million dollar gate. Tickets for the event are being sold at a "dollar a yard."

In other words, a seat on the ten yard line costs $10; on the 20 yard line $20 and the 50 yard line $50.

Everyone has to pay for his or her seat—including President Hoover and the press.

The Salvation Army will be given the funds from the game to be used in aiding the unemployed.

It was at a women's club meeting in Oakland the other day. During a recess the members started talking about the business depression.

Present was an elderly lady who listened to the conversation. Finally, unable to endure it any longer, she spoke: "You people talking about a business depression? Why this depression is nothing compared to some of them I have seen!"

And she told of some of the panics she had seen; and she told of conditions as she found them in England on her recent visit.

And before the talk was over she had convinced the club members that the depression isn't so bad after all.

Sugar Men To Enter In Pact

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—UP—An international "gentlemen's agreement" among sugar producing nations for storage of surplus sugar until the price rises at least equal to cost of production will be sponsored by the Cuban government, the United States learned today.

The plan will be suggested to leading European and Java producers by Thomas L. Chadbourne, Cuban Senator Viriato Gutierrez, and their associates scheduled to leave for New York for Europe tomorrow.

The form of the international plan suggested will be along lines of the so-called Chadbourne plan just adopted by the Cuban government. It would not involve international organization but would rely on individual operations by each country to arrange for disposal of its own surplus.

WEST STRUCK BY BLIZZARD

Americans Endangered In New Peruvian Revolution

DEATH TOLL IN STORM GROWS

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—UP—One of the most severe November blizzards in history deluged the western plains tonight with snow. Gale winds piled it in drifts 20 feet deep in some places, and still the snow swirled down in veritable sheets over Colorado, Montana, Wyoming, Nebraska, the Dakotas, Iowa, Minnesota, and central Canada.

Whole towns were paralyzed when snow banked up to roof tops. Trains battled behind snowplows hours late and in some cases were forced to stop. The airmail service had to quit when landing fields were blotted out in thick leatherbeds of snow.

Lars Marooned
Motorists were marooned throughout the west by drifts that looked like small sized mountains. Two men were frozen to death in the Rocky Mountain states, an infant died tragically, while four persons were missing. One, a girl, was believed lost in the expanse of snow with her kidnappers.

In Trinidad, Colo., where 22 inches of snow blocked transcontinental Santa Fe trains and caused roofs to collapse, a new storm started. Some two inches more of snow coated the drifts which already made streets level with the eaves of houses, buried automobiles, trees and houses. Only the chimneys of homes emerged from the drifting snow.

ROTARY HOLDS MEETING HERE

The true spirit of Thanksgiving was evident at the meeting of Richmond Rotary club yesterday attended by one of the largest gatherings of the year.

CLARA, BELL DENIES ALL OF CHARGES

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 21.—UP—In an answer filed today, Clara Bow and Rex Bell, her cowboy boy friend, denied charges by Daisy Devoe, former secretary to Miss Bow, that they are withholding property belonging to her.

The answer covering one brief sheet, and filed by their counsel, W. I. Gilbert, denied the allegations in Miss Devoe's suit, paragraph by paragraph.

First, it denied Miss Devoe's assertion that she is the owner of and entitled to possession of the articles she listed as being taken from her through the district attorney's office—a diamond and platinum pin, a diamond and ruby ring, a wrist watch, two safety deposit keys and some insurance policies.

In her suit, Miss Devoe valued the articles at $2200 and asked an additional $5000 for asserted wrongful seizure of them. The answer denied that the secretary was wrongfully deprived of the articles or that the defendants were guilty of "fraud and oppression."

In addition to Miss Bow and Bell defendants were District Attorney Buron Fitts, Blaney Matthews, his chief investigator and Marjorie Fairchild and James Cline, investigators.

Bell and Miss Bow appeared before the county grand jury today. However, it was said that the jurors preferred to take no action on charges against Miss Devoe until she is given an opportunity to testify. The matter under investigation occurred during the time Miss Devoe was acting as the actress secretary.

Two Killed In Love Quarrel

SEATTLE, Nov. 21.—UP—Three men used gas in attempts to commit suicide here—and two succeeded.

Rather than go to a "poor house," Mark Treponok, 60, the "little father" of the Russian colony here, opened the gas jets in his room when he failed to obtain employment.

An unidentified person known only as "Old Tom" was found dead. He had left a note saying he was taking gas because he was "broke."

James Harrier, 50, who told hospital attendants today that he attempted to commit suicide because of quarrels with his wife, was saved by other tenants in his apartment house when they detected the odor of gas.

REDS WAR ON COUNTER REVOLTERS

TROOPS ARE RUSHED TO SCENE

LIMA, Peru, Nov. 21.—UP—Troops were hurried North to Talara, Peru's most important petroleum center, tonight to protect 500 foreigners, believed in danger of their lives at the hands of irate native workers.

The natives were reported angered at alleged discriminations, and were to meet tomorrow to discuss calling a strike. The labor trouble was the second instance of native labor unrest in the past fortnight. Infuriated native miners at Cerro de Pasco killed two Americans and a European in strike riots earlier this month. A score of natives were killed in the clashes.

The reinforcements were ordered to Talara at the formal request of the United States embassy and the British legation. The mood of the native laborers was described as ugly, and the authorities indicated they desired to be fully prepared for outbreaks similar to the Cerro de Pasco incidents.

The two chief interests affected by the possibility of trouble at Talara, 600 miles north of Lima near the coast, where the international Petroleum corporation, a Canadian Standard Oil subsidiary with 5,000 workers, and the Lobos Oil Co. of England, with 2,000 laborers in its employ.

The native laborers were declared dissatisfied with working conditions. Their dissatisfaction was fanned into unrest by the Cerro de Pasco mines riots, and has been increasing since until it was believed to have reached the danger point, with violence probable.

The government in an effort to stem the apparently mounting danger of outbreaks arrested several labor leaders in the oil area.

LOCALS WILL ATTEND GAME

California and Stanford alumni residing in Richmond were preparing last night to attend the "Big Game" to be played in the stadium at Berkeley today.

GAELS GIVEN S. F. FETE

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.—UP—More than 100,000 persons lined main streets here today and welcomed home a victorious St. Mary's football team.

Seldom in the history of the city has there been a more demonstrative celebration than that which greeted the "Galloping Gaels" when they returned from their undefeated team in New York last Saturday.

As the Gaels were paraded down Market street to the city hall to be honored by civic leaders, a ram that they declared was Ramesses IV, mascot of the Fordham team until the "kidnaping," was perched on the engine hood of the automobile that led the procession.

The ram almost stole the whole show. Blinking in amazement, it must have wished for the western fields as a bedlam of noise was turned loose around it, thousands cheering and whistles blowing.

St. Mary's will now resume hard training for the Oregon game here next Thursday and a charity game that is believed likely to follow in December.

The board of athletic control at St. Mary's college in Moraga will meet Sunday to consider an invitation from the University of Southern California for a charity game in Los Angeles Dec. 20, and its rumored a game for benefit of unemployed is contemplated for here on Dec. 6 or Dec. 13, with Utah a likely opponent of the Gaels.

New Kind Of Duck Gains Wide Fame

OAKLAND, Nov. 21.—A red-headed type of duck now making their headquarters along with the many other winged fowls on Lake Merritt are puzzling duckologists and other ologists, because of their inability to assist the particular birds to any known species.

It has been suggested that the fowls might be of European origin, and that a trans-Atlantic flight might be made yearly.

The strange birds appear only during the winter months. No other part of the state has reported the presence of such birds, and they cannot be classified with any of the native species, experts said.

For a time it was believed he was in a serious condition due to his advanced age. Paul Julio, 122 Fifteenth street, driver of the car was not held responsible for the accident.

He failed to produce a driver's license and was held on that count. Van Sull is proprietor of a drug store at 2021 Macdonald avenue.

'BREAKDOWN OF SOVIETS DENIED

MOSCOW, Nov. 21.—A quickened campaign against persons suspected of counter-revolutionary activities was under way throughout Soviet Russia today.

The capital, however, was quiet and reports of dissension within the Red army were declared by officials of the Soviet government to be "absurd" and "unworthy of denial."

Moscow, it was pointed out, is usually a "great whispering gallery" where rumor spreads quickly and exaggerated reports get abroad. However, the city and vicinity were quiet today.

Many Plots

The Soviet press last week has been crowded with exposures and denunciations of dissenters within the Communist party. Sensational charges have been made against a group of engineers and economists, alleged to have been involved in a plot to overthrow the government. Their trial is scheduled to come up next Tuesday.

These charges and subsequent arrests of numerous persons alleged to have been connected with the ringleaders in the purported anti-Soviet plot were believed to have given rise to revolt stories abroad.

It is generally known in Moscow that Josef Stalin, strong man of Russia, and his associates are in the midst of the most thorough political "house cleaning" in many years. Almost daily announcements are made of officials being reorganized and well-known Communists expelled from party.

This official said that it has stimulated talk in anti-Soviet quarters about the "imminent collapse" of the Soviet regime, but Moscow outwardly is quiet. At the military barracks, meetings are under way in connection with "defense week," and speakers at these sessions have been even more vigorous than usual in their denunciation of the party's internal and foreign foes.

Tomorrow, 21 airplanes, bought with money raised by popular subscriptions in the factories of Moscow, will be delivered to the war office, with elaborate ceremony.

BOB COONEY IN LIFE FIGHT

Critically injured when the motorcycle he was riding skidded on a turn, Robert Cooney, 24, was reported doing "as well as could be expected" at Hospital Richmond late last night.

The motorcycle he was riding was owned by Sam Rowe, who had loaned it to James Logan who in turn loaned it to Cooney for a short ride.

It was believed at first after a cursory examination of the injured man that he was fatally injured. During the past 24 hours since the accident Cooney has been semi-conscious at times, and on some occasions had been able to recognize relatives.

He had taken liquid nourishment which was believed to be aiding him in his fight for life. His healthy condition was also a great asset in his struggle.

The injured man's address is at 939 Pomona avenue, Albany.

THREE FAMOUS GRID GAMES TODAY

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—UP—Three football games in as many parts of the country will occur Saturday, Yale playing Harvard at New Haven, Notre Dame and Northwestern clashing at Evanston, Ill., and Stanford and California doing battle on the Pacific coast.

Despite previous records established and because of them these three games shape up as unusually even propositions.

A Harvard team which has failed to win a major victory and which was tied by William and Mary, is held to have an even chance to beat Yale's moderately successful and supposedly superior eleven.

California, badly beaten by U. S. and defeated by three other clubs, will be given a chance to beat the mighty Stanford team, which has run down the state, Washington, and Northwestern has amassed such a record that lots of bettors believe the chance to get even is a 1 to 2 odds which is not heavily against Northwestern, even if the Purple is meeting so formidable a foe as Notre Dame.

This is the last heavy football week-end. There are 100-odd games listed for Saturday, as compared with approximately 200 one week ago. There will be another 100 or so games on Thanksgiving the final day for concerted action on many football fronts.

Many of the games Saturday are of importance only to the teams involved. There are some interesting exceptions. Temple's powerful young team will play Carnegie Tech at Philadelphia. Navy, looking to games with Penn and Army takes on Maryland at Annapolis. Michigan State and Detroit, two mid-western teams holding splendid records, are to play at East Lansing, Mich. Wisconsin and Minnesota have what could be a tie game at Madison, Wis.

The element of tradition, overworked at the end of every football season, enters into a number of week-end games. Yale vs. Harvard is the chief of these. Stanford vs. California also is an old rivalry. Some others are West Virginia-W. and J. Missouri-Kansas, Illinois-Ohio State, Lafayette-Lehigh, South Carolina-Carolina.

Fellows, Woodmen Will Meet Sunday

The Richmond Odd Fellows and Richmond Woodmen of America are scheduled to cross bats on the San Pablo diamond Sunday afternoon in later county Winter baseball league competition.

Either Peacock or Kamb will start on the mound for the lodge men, while Hansen will do the chucking for the Woodmen. Gualdoni will receive for the linkers, and Molozza will be behind the home plate for the Woodmen.

A bitter battle should be staged at San Pablo Sunday for the Woodmen will be anxious to stay in a tie for first place, and the Odd Fellows will be just as anxious to reach the top of the league ladder.

Dartmouth Will Arrive Tuesday For Card Game

Cardinals Favorites In Annual 'Big Game'

BERKELEY, Nov. 21.—Never before in the 28 years that California has met Stanford in what the entire country knows as the "big game" have chances of the men from the university in this city looked so slim for a victory.

Stanford on the other hand was prepared to drive into the crippled Bears and do exactly what the Californians did to them ten years ago when they rolled up a 64 to 0 victory.

California found herself tonight in almost the same place Stanford found itself in 1924 when the two teams met on the field of battle in the stadium here in a 20 to 20 tie.

Shaldach, star backfield man of the Bears is crippled with a knee that has not functioned right for several weeks. Rusty Gill, the line smasher of the Bears is in a condition similar to that of Shaldach. Neither of these men are expected to play a major part of the game.

In 1924 Ernie Nevers, Stanford's smashing fullback watched the game from the side lines with broken ankles. Three days before the 1924 event Cleveland, the fastest back of the Cards was ruled ineligible.

Midnight the pivot man for Californians is still unable to enter the fray to make matters a little even worse for the Californians when compared with the Cards condition in 1924.

Cardinals Favored

Football historians record the play of 1924 and in looking over the situation see a possibility of California repeating the feat of their rivals of that date.

Should California win or even tie Stanford it will be purely on their feet. Paper comparisons give the Red Shirts one of the biggest edges the team has ever enjoyed on the eve of the "big game."

That the Bears will fight is a foregone conclusion as rumors were still circulating about the campus of what those men who will go into the game will do were still prevalent after their promises before they went into retreat this week.

Last Game

Avery will be playing his last game for his Alma Mater here, and he has declared that he will be carried off the field more dead than alive if that is necessary in order to stop plays that come around his end.

Kirwan slated to call signals, has his orders from Coach Price and an attack that has not been unleashed any time this season is expected to be offered by the Golden Bears when they drive into the Redshirt line tomorrow.

Ted Beckett, the fightingst line-man California has ever produced will bear the brunt of the attack. Three teeth lost in the game with W. S. C. has not lessened his ability to stop plays and take the punishment that a linesman must take.

Stone To Start

Stanford will be "ready" to take the measure of the Bears in a manner they have never before done. Every man will be eager for the kickoff that will bring thousands to their feet.

Thomas Loutlet will be umpire, Tommy Fitzpatrick will act as head linesman, William Mathison will be field judge and Herb Dana will officiate as referee.

Smashing line plays with occasional attempts to score through the air is expected to be California's plan for battle, while Stanford with its triple reverses and short lateral passes will probably be used in an effort to roll up an impressive score.

Men on both teams were resting tonight and will arise tomorrow for their light breakfast which will be followed by a lighter lunch intended to last them until they open "war" on each other for the last big game for both teams for the 1930 season.

Garrity Punts

On the right side of the forward wall Captain Garrity, Cahn, and Thornton will throw their entire strength at the ball carriers. Fully two teams of Californians are expected to get into the battle before the whistle blows for the game's end.

The punting is expected to be carried on by Garrity. In practice during past few days he has shown improvement and will probably be called upon often to get the ball out of dangerous territory. Garrity at left half and East at the right back will be the main ball throwers. East's running ability is expected to give the Cards considerable trouble during the day.

Pop Tells Lineup

For the Cards "Pop" Warner has announced Doub starting at right end, Captain Tandy will squat beside him at the right tackle berth with Bardin on his side as guard.

Taylor will pass the ball on its backward journeys, while Hulen, Bogue, and Neill will form the other side of the line.

In the backfield Cagliari, at right half, Moffat at left half, Rottier at full, and Hillman backing signals will complete the starting lineup.

Rottier and Moffat have been the mainstays for "Pop" Warner during the present season and they will be relied upon to carry forth their part tomorrow. Simpkins will also account for himself, as will Rintala, Caddel, in their respective positions in the backfield, if substituted.

Last Game

Linesmen have avowed they will put forth their best in this biggest of "Big Games." Several of these men will be playing their last game for the Redshirts.

More than 80,000 spectators will line the stadium and twilight hill when Herb Dana, referee calls to the two opposing captains "are you ready?"

The two captains will call back "ready" and the game will be on. California going into the fray as the underdog will be ready in every sense of the word that coach-in-chief boasting has been able to make them ready.

Cards Confident

Stanford will be "ready" to take the measure of the Bears in a manner they have never before done.

PETROLLE WINS VICTORY FROM MCLARNIN

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—UP—Another one of those four to one shots came steaming down to victory tonight when Billy Petrolle, the Fargo express, a roaring two-fisted fighting machine, hammered out a most unexpected victory over J. M. McLarnin of Vancouver, B. C. in ten torrid rounds tonight.

Fourteen thousand spectators looked on, first in amazement and then thrilled by the slashing fight and the game effort by the favorite to avoid a knockout.

Petrolle won from start to finish as great a fight as has been seen in many months.

In the fourth round, it seemed inevitable that Jimmy would be counted out. Twice he went down for a count of nine before a savage two-fisted assault. Left hooks to the jaw drove him to the canvas but each time he was up and on one knee and waiting for the word "nine."

Candy Will Be Given At Local Service Station

That was the announcement made yesterday on the eve of the station's opening. The fifth anniversary of the establishment owned by Frank Fabretti will be observed in conjunction with the opening to the public of the enlarged station.

Four new pumps have been added to the service of the concern which now makes it possible for eight different kinds of gasoline to be purchased there. Fifteen different grades of oil may also be secured.

The station has been said to be the largest in the bay region. Customers acquired during the past five years the station has been open has made it possible to install the additional pumps, Fabretti said.

MOHLER GIVEN CLEAN SLATE IN PROBE

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 21.—UP—After investigating charges that Orville Mohler, quarterback on the University of Southern California football team had accepted money for playing in semi-pro baseball games, Professor Hugh Willett, faculty athletic representative, said the accusations were unfounded.

"We have investigated every phase of Mohler's record and have found it clean," he said.

Checks said to have been made payable to Mohler and cashed by him were traced to their source without a tinge of professionalism. News said today that photostatic it was said. The Illustrated Daily offered for sale to newspapers.

Father To Walk 174 Miles To See Son Play

A trek of 174 miles, all by foot will be made by a father to see his son play his last game as quarterback and captain of Virginia Polytechnic Institute Thanksgiving Day.

Frank B. Hooper will walk from Raleigh, N. C. to Roanoke, Va. to see the annual V. P. L.-V. M. I. cadets game.

This is not the first time the elder Hooper has walked to the big game to witness his son Bird Hooper perform. Two years ago he walked from Richmond to Roanoke a distance of 180 miles.

LEGION ELEVEN WILL MEET ASHBYS

Richmond American Legion football fans are waxing hopeful these days as the Richmond American Legion-Ashby club battle looms on the local gridiron front. With a fairly fine record behind them, the Richmond warriors are rated as favorites in the game to be played Sunday afternoon on the Richmond Union high school field.

Richmond has had a fairly good season this year, winning four games, losing three, and tying one. The local boys have been meeting some of the strongest American Legion football competition in the state and have been standing up well against many of these experienced aggregations.

A strong squad has been whipped into shape by Coach Claude Samp's, and the Richmond team is believed strong enough to take the visiting Ashby athletes of Oakland down the line Sunday. A six to six tie was played between the Richmond and Ashby outfits earlier in the season. Since that time the Richmond Legionnaires have made great improvements and are expected to show a strong style of network and cooperation Sunday.

Local Boys Will Usher At Big Game

A large number of Richmond Union High school boys will usher at the big game at Berkeley this afternoon. More than forty local boys have been selected for the positions of ushers.

Are—Cheap!

THEY cheapen those who make them, those who sell them, those who buy them. They pull down American industry. They lower the American standard of living—of our homes, our wages, our leadership in the world. COMEDY PAIR IN FILM AT THE FOX

Ole Olsen and Chic Johnson, known as "America's funniest clowns" make their talking picture debut in "Oh Sailor Behave!" Warner Bros. special Vitaphone production which comes to the Fox-California Theater today.

Famed for their laugh provoking antics and mad antics, Olsen and Johnson provide the comedy touches—and they are many—in this colorful story of love and intrigue beneath Italian skies. They enact the roles of two American sailors ostensibly on the lookout for a man with a wooden leg, but actually yearning for nothing but mischief. Naturally both become enamored of the same pretty girl, and their attempts to win her are hilariously funny.

While Olsen and Johnson have never before appeared on the talking screen their fame as vaudeville comedians has spread far and wide, and interest in their Vitaphone debut runs high. They bring to "Oh Sailor Behave!" the same genius for inducing mirth with which they graced the speaking stage. They have a natural adaptability for the talking screen and their comic antics are thrown into gay relief in "Oh Sailor Behave!"

Taking for its locale the famous city of Naples, and filmed against lavish and pretentious settings, the first Olsen and Johnson comedy brings to the screen one of the most outstanding casts ever assembled.

Irene Delroy, celebrated Broadway musical comedy star, makes her initial screen appearance as the feminine lead, opposite Charles King, the handsome young man who saves his way to popularity in other pictures.

Lottie Loder, a Viennese beauty of individual talents, who was discovered in Budapest and brought to Hollywood by a Warner Bros. executive enacts one of the featured roles.

Noah Beery, Lowell Sherman, Vivien Oakland, Charles Judels and Lawrence Grant complete the all-star cast.

It is directed by Archie Mayo and is adapted to the screen by Joseph Jackson.

Al Dablin and Joe Burke, the team that wrote "Tiptoe Through the Tulips," "Painting the Clouds with Sunshine" and "In a Kitchenette," furnished the songs and lyrics for "Oh Sailor Behave!"

CARS COLLIDE

Cars driven by M. P. Silvia, San Pablo and G. M. Kendall, 619 Twenty-first street, collided at Seventh street and Macdonald avenue last night. No one was hurt, police reported.

How Old Are You?
Is This The Time Your 49
Crowding 50—But What Do You Care, Feel Like 30 With Kruschen

Keep as young as you can—Look young—Feel Young—Act Young—Be Young.

There is a way to turn back the hands of the clock of time—10 to 20 years—Let Grandpa tell you about it. Grandpa is 60—feels like 35—looks like an athlete and plays tennis with the best of them—What a man.

"When I was fat and fifty," says Grandpa—"I was downright lazy—my ambition had left me—I got short winded easily—I was really stupid most of the time—I was just a plain ordinary flop."

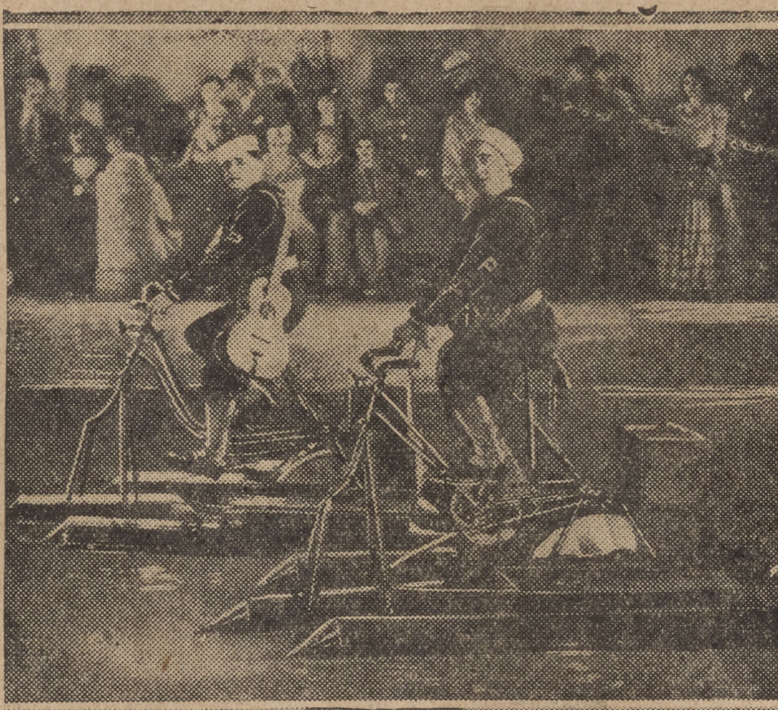

Then one day good luck bobbed its head—I read in the newspapers that Kruschen Salts put gumption into lazy, unambitious men and I got busy.

Before I had finished my first bottle of these magic salts—I knew that life meant something more to me than just laying around and complaining about the luck other people had.

I took my half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast—never missed a morning—soon I felt like a new man—full of vigor, energy and ambition—I wanted to be up and doing and I've been active ever since. I get a thrill out of the joy of living.

An 85 cent bottle of Kruschen Salts lasts 4 weeks—after your first bottle is gone you will say with Grandpa—Kruschen is worth a hundred dollars of any other man's money.

WHEAT BUYING PROGRAM IS SCORED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—UP—Events are heating hard against President Hoover's determination to keep the government out of business.

The Grain Stabilization Corp. is spending millions of federal funds in the biggest wheat buying operation in peace-time history. That program has the reluctant support of President Hoover and Republican congressional leaders.

Political events are exerting tremendous pressure, also, to obtain administration support for government operation of the Muscle Shoals power and fertilizer project. Adoption of this progressive Republican measure might prevent a special session of Congress.

Senator Watson, Republican Senate leader and a recent White House conferee when winter legislative plans were discussed, says the wheat buying program is vicious and eventually must be abandoned, but that it would be a mistake to stop buying now.

Changing Attitude
There is evidence, too, of a changing regular Republican attitude toward Muscle Shoals, which the administration-controlled house last session refused to assign to federal operation. There is no indication, however, that President Hoover has changed his opinion that the plant should be leased to private interests.

Watson says he thinks there is much merit in the compromise proposal advanced by Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, for government operation of the power plant and lease of the fertilizer project to private interests. Watson argues the government already owns the Muscle Shoals plant so that a major part of the issue already is decided against those who would keep the government out of business.

INDIA PARLEY ENDED BY BRITISH

LONDON, Nov. 21.—UP—Premier J. Ramsay MacDonald, in adjourning the India round table conference indefinitely today, told the delegates who had been demanding dominion status that he favored a federal system of government for India but that home rule at present was not yet attainable.

The premier was almost as frank as some of the Indian delegates who have dominated the proceedings of the round table parley. His speech however was guarded to the extent that he sought diplomatically to tell the Indians they would be given fair treatment but could hardly expect dominion status overnight.

MacDonald declared his contribution to the round table conversation the home that India would become a federation which is a measure, which meets the historical inheritance of the nation, which enables mergings and which embodies the authority of the state and the liberty of the individual.

You are not in a position to produce a static constitution, the premier declared, "that your grandsons will worship as if it were one of your sacred inheritances. A constitution must evolve, a constitution must evolve, it must be a continuing thing."

MacDonald scouted the use of the expression "dominion status," although he referred to a "united, federated India."

At the conclusion of the premier's speech, the Aga Khan, Indian potentate said the representatives of the Hindus, Moslems and princes throughout India were unanimous in asking for a full measure of self-government.

"I am anxious it shall be in a form which will insure not only every Indian minority, but that the British commercial element in India shall be satisfied that their interests are safe," the Aga Khan said.

"There is no reason we should not at this moment start on the basis of full self-government and responsibility."

The Aga Khan's speech was familiar vein to those of other Indian princes and the Indian delegates generally at the historic parley. They have expressed a surprising unanimity of purpose, Hindu, Moslems and princes—their wish to self government and dominion status.

France Moves To Aid Jobless

PARIS, Nov. 21.—UP—Large credits for development of France's vast colonial empire were voted by the chamber of deputies today as part of the government's scheme to combat the increasing menace of industrial depression and unemployment.

The credits voted were in the form of loans to be extended to various French colonies in Africa and the far east. The total was 4,422,000,000 francs (about $176,220,000). A subsidy of 20,000,000 francs (about $200,000) was voted for development of cotton growing, particularly in French equatorial Africa.

The government had little difficulty in getting the credits passed. It was pointed out that these loans would divert orders from the colonies to French industries, and thereby prevent unemployment and industrial depression.

Hoover May Be Renominated In 1932 Race

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—UP—Republican party activities are expected to point now toward renomination of President Hoover some 18 months hence, many here believe.

This is not a subject Republican national committee officials care to discuss officially. But majority opinion is that Hoover will seek another four years and that work of the Republican national committee will lead that way indirectly. The committee officially has to do with election of the ticket, not with nominations.

Some believe an effort will be made to push Senator-elect Dwight W. Morrow of New Jersey forward as a rival candidate. Morrow has indicated he expects to seek renomination in 1932, and he refuses to encourage those who would advance his name.

Prevailing opinion among politicians is that Hoover hopes for an opportunity during a second term in which he might, under more favorable economic conditions, demonstrate his abilities more fully. There is also the feeling among many that the retirement of Hoover, whether forced or voluntary, would be represented by the opposition as a confession of failure.

The story is that Coolidge, when told the people might again turn to him in 1932, remarked that if Hoover was not renominated, the Republican nomination would be worthless to anybody.

Party organization matters were discussed by President Hoover with a group of party officials this week. Those present were J. R. Nutt, party treasurer, Jeremiah Milbank, eastern treasurer, James Francis Burke, committee counsel, and Robert H. Lucas, executive director of the committee. The fact that Senator Simon D. Fess, Republican national chairman, was not present, though in the city, occasioned much speculation as to the possibility of his early retirement.

However, both Senator Fess and Lucas insisted there was no significance in this and that the chairman had been fully apprised of the discussion and approved everything done.

The fact is that the Republican party treasury is about as low as a child's savings account the day after the rent is due. Funds are to be solicited for a big campaign of "education." The Republicans hope to outdo the Democratic publicity campaign which harassed some Republicans during the congressional contest.

This educational campaign probably will be a leading factor in the personal fortunes of Hoover. With congress subjected to the mercies of a possible Democratic-Republican insurgent coalition, the Republican party publicity will be centered on building up an impressive picture of Hoover's past achievements.

THREE FACES EAST TO BE SHOWN

Many nations are represented in the east of the Warner Brothers and Vitaphone spy mystery drama "Three Faces East," which features Eric von Stroheim and Constance Bennett and comes to the Fox-California Theater tomorrow.

Von Stroheim was born in Vienna, Austria. Constance Bennett who has the feminine lead, in New York. Crauford Kent and Anthony Bushell hail from England. William von Bricken comes from Wurtemberg, Germany, while Arthur Harni claims Geneva, Switzerland as the place of his nativity.

William Courtenay, another prominent player in "Three Faces East" was born in the United States.

Roy del Ruth directed. "Three Faces East" had a phenomenal stage run and is without doubt the most thrilling spy melodrama of the World War. The cast is exceptional.

Third Body In Suicide Hunted

SANTA MONICA, Nov. 21.—UP—The sea still held tonight the body of the third of three aged sisters, who, weary of life, waded into the Pacific ocean hand-in-hand, leaving behind them the memory of stock market losses and debts they could not pay.

A search throughout the day at the ocean's edge failed to show a trace of the body of Miss Jessie Miller, 60. On Thursday the bodies of Miss Abba Miller, 70, and Mrs. Ada McKeon, 80, were washed up on the beach. Mrs. McKeon was blind. Their brother, R. D. Miller, said they had left him a note telling of financial worry and the fear of separation; they had been together all their lives.

POWER ISSUE IS SEEN IN ELECTION

DENVER, Nov. 21.—UP—The next presidential campaign will be fought out on the "power issue," Senator Gerald P. Nye, Republican, North Dakota, predicted today.

His investigations since last May as head of the Senate campaign funds committee have convinced him "there isn't any doubt but that the forthcoming sale by the government of power from Boulder Dam and Muscle Shoals has prompted the power interests actively to interest themselves in the outcome of elections."

It caused them to participate in the recent campaigns, he said.

Big Vote Fund
"The outlay of money here in Colorado in the Republican senatorial primary was as great if not greater per vote than the expenditures in Illinois or Pennsylvania," Nye declared.

"This was occasioned by the desire of the power interests to elect a senator favorable to them. The Colorado law limiting expenditures of a senatorial candidate to $5,000 was violated."

Law Violated
The offense which Nye charged is a felony, punishable by a $500 fine or a year in the state penitentiary or both.

"The committee's hearing here showed expenditures of George H. Shaw to be about $54,000 in the Republican senatorial primary in which he defeated William V. Hodges, who spent $3502."

The primary cost Senator-Elect Edward P. Costigan, Democrat, $5,609. He defeated Shaw in the general election on which he spent $9,096 as compared to Shaw's expenditure of $10,750.

Senate Report
"All these expenditures were greatly in excess of the state's limit of $5,000," Nye said. "This fact, of course, will have to be reported to the senate, as well as the fact that the state law hasn't been observed for 20 years. In no state have we been able to build a record of facts and figures which will be of use such value for consideration of legislation to restrict expenditures for senatorial campaigns as here."

Editorial opinion on the hearing was divided. The Rocky Mountain News said the committee "scratched the surface, but has not gotten to the bottom" of the campaign. It said a grand jury should investigate bribery charges made during the hearing.

The Denver Post said the hearing was "a disgusting fizzle, a farce, the main object of which apparently was investigation of Shaw's campaign, which was none of the committee's business since Shaw was not elected to the senate."

Ashes Of Crash Victims Will Be Scattered By Plane

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 21.—UP—A night air mail plane roaring over the Tehachapi mountains will scatter on the snow covered range the ashes of the three persons who died in the crash of a Pacific Air Transport biplane earlier this week it was announced today.

The bodies of Flavius Donaldson, pilot, George Rogers, mechanic and Miss Jean Markow Smith, young passenger, will be returned here from Bakersfield for cremation. Perhaps Saturday or Sunday, J. Johnson, friend of Donaldson and night mail flier, will loose the ashes while bound for Oakland, destination of the wrecked plane.

4 Reported Missing As Blizzard Hits West

pital when the blizzard stalled their automobile. While the mother struggled on foot through the snow the baby died.

Man Frozen
An unidentified man was found frozen to death in a snowdrift today near Lamar, Colo. A New Mexico druggist also died when he attempted to fight his way through the storm after his automobile became caught in a drift.

Officers on snowshoes sought trace of Robert Thompson, 21, and Dorothy McKinnie, 15, the girl he was accused of having kidnapped near Salida, Colo.

The second blizzard within a week swept down from Canada through the Red River valley to western Minnesota, where it spread out fan-shaped to disrupt traffic, communication, and isolate many towns.

So strong was the gale sending the snow and sleet scudding before it that it hurled down rows of telegraph poles along the Minnesota North Dakota border. Snow drifted rapidly in the prairies, while in the cities, sleet grazed it with an icy mirror, dangerous to motorists and pedestrian alike.

Canada Hit
A foot of snow covered most of Manitoba after an all night blizzard. In Winnipeg street cars were tied up and motorists were stranded. All highways were blocked.

Temperatures fell rapidly in the Missouri and Mississippi valleys. Weather officials said, however, that fair weather likely would reveal for most of the important football games tomorrow in the Great Lakes area.

TWO DEATHS ARE REPORTED IN WEST
DENVER, Nov. 21.—UP—Three men and a boy were missing tonight, probable victims of a blizzard which swept down from the north with disastrous results.

While "searching" battle mountainous drifts in quest of the four, the storm veered northeastward from Colorado and New Mexico where two deaths from freezing were reported in addition to the cases of those missing.

The frozen body of Howard Rhodes, 50, bachelor rancher living near King's reservoir in the Arkansas valley, was found today beside a snow-obscured road, nine miles northeast of Lamar. His saddle horse was found dead in a ditch a mile away.

Storm Death
They apparently perished at the height of the blizzard Thursday, while attempting to reach the shelter of the P. O. Martin home.

The other known death was that of Guy Miner, 50, of Des Moines, New Mexico, who died in a snowdrift attempting to reach Mount Dora, N. M., from his stalled automobile to get aid for J. W. Whitehead, 80-year old companion. Highway workers reached Whitehead hours later and took him to a hospital suffering severely from exposure.

Those missing included P. H. Strong, 35, rural mail carrier, who lost his way in the blinding blizzard near Lamar.

In the Black Forest region northeast of Colorado Springs search was made for John Evans, 20, rancher, lost since late Wednesday when he went out into the storm on his ranch to attend his cattle.

Was Separated
Also missing was James Telford, 36, of Denver, last seen 15 miles from Raton, N. M., where he became separated from companions on a deer hunting expedition.

Drifts hampered search for a 13-year old Japanese school boy, who failed to reach his home after leaving a rural school near La Junta Wednesday afternoon.

A renewal of the storm today in southern Colorado failed to stop trains but prevented workers from opening highways.

Snowplows A Work
More than 100 snowplows were put in service by the state highway department which sought to open the roads to the Kansas line on the east.

One of the nation's few women mail carriers, Amy Davis, froze her feet on her route between Rye and Pueblo, C. R. Fall and his wife suffered frozen faces when the roof of their farm home, seven miles east of Pueblo, was carried away by high winds.

In Denver, 750 of the city's unemployed were put to work on the city's snow-removal task.

Brothers Jailed For Sister Thefts
VISALIA, Nov. 21.—UP—Jose Sousa, 24, and Refugio Juerga, 21, each was in jail here today for stealing the other's sister.

Also, each was the recipient of fruit and other gifts brought by his own sister and divided with his prison-mate.

Sousa admitted in court that the thought of stealing Serafina Juerga, 15, never entered his mind until her brother had stolen his sister and kept her several days. Sousa's "revenge" theft lasted two days until he was caught. Both young men were given 120-day jail sentences.

Unemployment In Oregon Is Reported Low

SALEM, Ore., Nov. 21.—UP—Approximately twice as many men are out of work in Oregon at this time as there were a year ago, a report by C. H. Gram, state labor commissioner, showed today.

The estimate was made on replies received to inquiries sent to city and county officials throughout the state, Gram said, and added that he expected the number of unemployed to amount to between 35,000 and 40,000 by January 1.

Portland leads the state with unemployed by a large margin, the report showed, with Bend second by having a total of 6642 persons out of work.

Reports received from other cities, according to the report:

Albany, 150; Baker, 300; Corvallis, 92; Forest Grove, 200; Grants Pass, 200; Heppner, 50; Klamath Falls, 500; Lebanon, 200; La Grande, 250; Medford, 300; Marshfield, 200; North Bend, 250; Oregon City, 300; Pendleton, 100; Reedsport, 50; St. Helens, 200; Silverton, 200; Toledo, 100; Nernonia, 100; Walla, 50; Wallport, 250.

HOOVER HITS NEW DEBT PLAN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—UP—President Hoover today declared against any suspension of the legal debt retirement program of the government.

Such a suspension has been discussed and will be discussed further when Congress meets as a means of preventing an increase in Federal income taxes.

Many administration leaders have said the tax increase is inevitable in the face of the government's present and prospective situation under the present program.

Hoover added his approval of the division of foreign debt payments and other receipts to meet current expenses. In the past several years, Secretary Mellon has used such funds including treasury surpluses to pay off the $26,000,000,000 war debt faster than the law required.

Husbands May Be Nuisances, But—

WIVES everywhere have had the chance to indulge, these last few days, in a special private chuckle of their own—

Their subdued, confidential merriment began when they read the dispatches

Telling of the marriage of Rebecca West, brilliant British novelist, essayist, critic and SPINSTER, To a London banker, Henry Maxwell Andrews.

Although only a few months ago Miss West publicly denounced in print

The average British husband, whom she described as a "nuisance."

For years and years, the actions of the consistent and courageous Miss West

Spoke as loud as her words—

That is to say, she remained unweakened.

Yet now, at the age of thirty-seven, she enters the bonds of holy matrimony

With a wedding reception, a honeymoon trip to Italy and all the other trimmings—

Husbands may be nuisances, but she nevertheless acquires one—

Nuisance or not, she wants him around—

And that's why other married women are laughing to themselves,

Because they reached the same conclusion, long ago.

And it simply seems to them that Miss West has wasted a lot of time

And missed a lot of interesting experience!

It is easy enough to set down the various ways

In which even the best of husbands can contrive

To make a nuisance of himself.

He is so fussy about his food—

We've said it before, but we'll say it again.

Not the best female cook that ever lived

Takes food as seriously as does practically every male consumer of it.

He doesn't like this dish, he can't stand that one.

His day is ruined if the coffee is too weak or the bacon insufficiently crisp.

He turns up his nose at leftovers—

And at most of his wife's favorite desserts.

He is darkly suspicious of all culinary experiments.

He simply can't see a salad, or sandwiches on a tray.

As an adequate substitute for dinner, even in the hottest weather.

Or on the nights when everything's gone wrong all day and his wife's tired to death.

He wants what he wants (in the way of food) when he wants it—

Which is within two minutes of the scheduled meal-time.

And the QUANTITY of food he can consume is a surprise to practically every bride!

Then, too, a husband is at least as much a nuisance to the wife who is a perfect housekeeper

As to the one who is an imperfect caterer.

He simply doesn't know the meaning of the words "neat" and "orderly"—

When he is through with anything, be it bath towel, or newspaper, or lighted match—

He drops it—and there he will "leave it lay."

For all his wife's admonitions to the contrary.

It may be for years—it may be for years.

Before a husband learns to utilize, promptly and without being reminded,

Such simple domestic devices as the laundry bag, the wastebasket, the ash tray.

He pulls his chair close to the fire, for an evening nap over the papers.

Does he later replace that chair where it belongs, in the corner next the reading lamp?

He never dreams of such a thing! He lies down on the couch for a Sunday nap.

When he wakes, does he rearrange the tumbled pillows as a woman would do instinctively?

The gesture never occurs to him! If it comes to making work around the house

One husband is more of a nuisance than six children—

Ask any woman who has both the

The Shoe for Every Dress Occasion and the Smart Woman Cannot Have Too Many

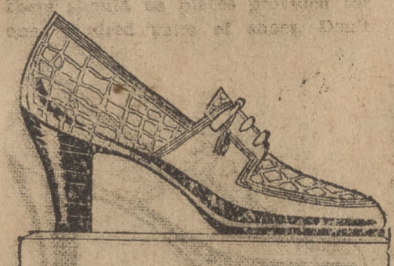

WHOEVER would have guessed that the humble shoe would have come to play such an important role in fashion as it does today? But it does! A dress with the wrong footwear is ruined. Expensive—this idea? Yes, of course it is. And that's why you must know how to do it right and wisely if you are to save the family budget from utter annihilation, for shoes bought promiscuously can run you into more money than you want to think about.

I know an architect who was asked to build a young lady's shoe closet in one of the smarter country houses. It was stipulated that there should be places provided for one hundred pairs of shoes. Don't laugh. That's the solemn truth. But I am here to tell you how the idea can be right and yet not carried out to that wild extent—and still keep the well shaped foot smart looking on every occasion.

Party Feet

ONE strapped sandals for evening are high fashion—not pumps.

Pumps were good in this particular last year, but not now.

And the sandals are dyed mostly to match the color of your dress though they have trimmings—ever so slight—bands of gold or silver leather with gold or silver heels as the case may be.

If your dress is black then you wear bright colored sandals—jade green or coral or red—and match these with the jewels you are wearing. This is the case with white gowns also.

One of the smartest women at the opening of the opera wore a gown of white triple chiffon—earrings of coral, long and heavy, reaching her shoulders.

She had coral sandals to match with silver trimmings and silver heels. And she stood out markedly as one of the best dressed women there.

Black pumps with black evening dresses are always in good taste. But this year they have jeweled decorations—adorable bowknots in rhinestones and rubies, rhinestones and sapphires, rhinestones and emeralds—depending upon the jewels you are wearing with your gown. Sometimes

Afternoon Footwear

THESE newer, dressier afternoon dresses must have their own particular shoes.

The suede pump carries all before it. And this is not the old plain shoe but has burst forth with bits of ornamentation—a slight bow of suede, a tiny clasp of marcasite or a bow-knot of the same metal.

Next comes the one-strap pump for those whose heels refuse to stay in place without some extra anchor.

These are ornamented, too, as told above. Some of them have jeweled toned leather woven into the narrow band outlining the vamp opening, and then this will be repeated in a line over the strap.

Street and Suit Shoes

COMBINATION of suede and calf to match your suit if possible—

—that is, black with black, brown with brown, gray with gray—but black with the brighter colors—

Things Good to Keep in Mind

No matter how dirty the paint may be, kerosene will cleanse it. Spread a small cloth over the palm of the hand and dip lightly into kerosene; go over a portion of the painted surface, then follow with hot water and soap and wipe dry with a cloth free from lint.

Do not store paper boxes, newspapers and magazines in the cellar if it is damp, as these articles absorb moisture and readily become musty; and, by the way, tying newspapers and magazines neatly in firm bundles gives a better appearance to the cellar and saves time when they are called for or sold.

When your towels become gray and dingy cover them with cold water in a pan or kettle, add juice of a lemon and one cup pure white soap flakes; set on back of stove and let them come to a boil gradually. Rinse in lukewarm water, and finally in blue water, and hang in sun to dry. Repeat the process if necessary.

You and Your Child

By Irma Morris

Copyright Press Publishing Company (New York World) 1930

A LITTLE child was running up and down the subway train.

His mother ran after him, and sat him down firmly in his seat, saying, "You see that man. If you don't sit still, he'll take you away and put you in a bad home!"

The little boy looked terrified, and thereafter sat perfectly still, keeping a wary eye on the conductor. His mother's threat had "worked," leaving her free to turn her attention in whatever direction she wished.

Often, one hears the parent say, in justification of giving her child a spanking, "But it always works. He always stops doing the naughty thing when I spank him."

Likewise, some mothers advocate bribes and rewards. "When I give him a penny, he goes right to bed," they say. Or "If I offer him a dollar for a good report card, he gets it, and otherwise, he doesn't."

That corporal punishment, threats, bribes and many similar methods often bring immediate results, cannot be disputed. It seems to me, however, that before resorting to these measures, parents would do well to "stop, look and listen."

First of all, let them thoughtfully consider whether such methods bring lasting as well as immediate results. Does the child who is spanked a great deal usually become more self-controlled, and more amenable to wise guidance as he grows older? Or does he very often become antagonistic, rebellious, callous to punishment, and practically unmanageable?

Has the little child who is so easily held in check by threats, been learning good habits? Rarely. Usually, his chief acquisitions have been a generally fearful attitude and a distrust of his mother's statements, which, as he grows older, he so readily recognizes as lies.

Likewise, what have been the effects of bribing? In most cases, the children have learned to demand payment for everything, and often they have turned into shrewd little bargainers.

Methods that bring immediate results often prove most unsatisfactory in the long run. It is far better, usually, to employ methods that do not "work" so quickly and yet are "surer"; methods that will teach children needed habits, self-reliance and healthy attitudes; methods that will teach them to have confidence in and respect for their reasonable, just, understanding parents.

And most of all, let us consider carefully what effects these "workable" measures are having upon the personality of our children. Let us beware of causing our young ones to become obstinate, bad tempered, shy, timid or untruthful and deceitful!

Did You Ever Think—

To place an old rug or piece of carpet on the bottom step of the cellar stairs? It will prevent the tracking of ashes on the polished kitchen floor.

You could enamel the faded wax candles and make them look like new? A little silver or gold paint, applied with an eye dropper, will give a pleasing decorative touch.

To suspend an embroidered hoop or a brightly painted towel ring from the bathroom rod for the child's towel? It will establish the early habit of keeping the towel hung up, which is impossible if he cannot reach the rod.

TELLING THE WORLD

RAS TAFARI, the Abyssinian monarch, was crowned this week and given the official titles of Emperor, Lord King of Kings of Ethiopia, Conquering Lion of the Tribe of Judah, the Elect of God and the Light of the World. That makes him practically everything except Exalted Ruler of the Elks.

The play-by-play description of the coronation follows:

MASTER OF CEREMONIES—All highest, in placing this crown upon your head I pronounce you Emperor of Abyssinia, Lord King of Kings—

RAS—Just a minute on this title business. Is King of Kings as high as aces back to back?

M. C.—There is no higher title in the realm.

RAS—I still think Ace of Aces would top it, according to Hoyle.

M. C.—As you will, your majesty. I pronounce you Lord King of Kings, Lord Ace of Aces, Most Grand and Solemn Royal Finish, and Most Praiseworthy Four of a Kind.

RAS—What else?

M. C.—I also pronounce you Conquering Lion of the Tribe of Judah.

RAS—You better mention me for the Elks and Moose, too. It will come in handy when the next election comes around.

M. C.—So be it. I therefore pronounce you Conquering Lion of the Tribe of Judah, Recording Secretary of the Loyal Order of Moose and Esteemed Lecturing Elk of Abba Dabba Lodge No. 7,124, B. P. O. E.

RAS—That's better.

M. C.—In addition to these worthy titles, I name you the Elect of God and Light of the World.

RAS—Is that all?

M. C.—Yes. Light of the World is your climactic title.

RAS—If I am Light of the World you might as well make me Vice President of the Power Trust, too.

M. C.—It shall be done. I pronounce you Vice President of the Power Trust, ex-dividend.

RAS—Now, how do my titles compare with King George's?

M. C.—He is only King of Great Britain and Ireland, Emperor of India and Ruler of the Dominions. You've got him beat by seven yards.

RAS—Well, somehow my titles don't seem complete. I am now only Emperor of Abyssinia, Lord King of Kings of Ethiopia, Conquering Lion of the Tribe of Judah, the Elect of God and the Light of the World. How about appointing me Miss Universe?

M. C.—It shall be done. I now pronounce you Emperor of Abyssinia, Lord King of Kings, Lord Ace of Aces, back to back; Conquering Lion of the Tribe of Judah, Recording

MORE BANKS IN SOUTH STATES ARE CLOSED

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—UP—Sixteen more banks closed in six southern and central states today. Unfounded rumors in some instances caused the heavy withdrawals that the banks were forced to suspend business for protection of depositors. In other cases frozen assets were blamed.

The total number of banks closed during the week mounted to 115 in Arkansas, Indiana, Kansas, North Carolina, Missouri, Kentucky and Tennessee.

Some three score banks in Arkansas, most of them small rural institutions, were expected to open shortly after taking advantage of a state law which permits banking institutions in times of stress to close for five days. Most of the Arkansas banks closed because of their dependence on a large Little Rock banking institution which suspended business.

Large banks closing in Quincy, Ill., Louisville, Ky., and Nashville, Tenn., brought about similar situations in surrounding rural districts.

Four banks closed in southern Indiana today, for instance, because of the tangled banking situation in Louisville, Ky., where several banks closed earlier in the week.

Indiana banks closed today included Crawford County State Bank of English, Leavenworth State Bank, Jackson Township Bank of Corydon Junction, and Old Capital Bank and Trust company of Corydon.

Three closed
Three North Carolina banks financial institutions, The Citizens Bank and Trust Co. of Waynesville and The American National Bank of Asheville and The Citizens Bank of Bryson City suspended, raising to 11 the list of inoperative banks there. Real estate flatation was held responsible.

Closing of the Quincy, Ill., banks caused the Ripley County bank of Doniphan, Mo., and The Bank of Edina, Mo., to shut their doors. Other other closed banks nearby blamed their plight on the Quincy situation.

The Bank of Crestwood and the Hopkins County Bank failed to open in Kentucky where 14 other banks, eight of them in Louisville, are closed pending reorganization plans.

Heavy Withdrawals
Three banks in Tennessee drew curtains over their windows. They were the $1,000,000 First State Bank of Paris, The Peoples Bank and Trust company of Nashville, a Negro institution, and the Peoples' Bank of Renoir City. Heavy withdrawals were blamed in all cases.

The Clewiston, Kan., State Bank took similar action, as did the State Bank of Waynesville at Bloomington, Ill.

The American Exchange Trust company of Little Rock, Ark., closing of which caused directly or indirectly about 60 smaller institutions to shut their doors, was expected to open soon. Reorganizers said that the independent banks likely would resume business simultaneously.

U. S. IN WAR ON NATION GANGS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—UP—A new war has been declared by the federal government against racketeers.

Attorney General Mitchell made public today the plan of campaign which the government is now pursuing against gangsters in Chicago and other cities throughout the nation.

In the belief that such men as Al Capone constitute a definite threat to law and order from a national viewpoint, Mitchell made it plain that the federal government has accepted their challenge.

Its efforts will not cease until racketeering is no longer a menace, he said.

All law enforcement agencies of the government are actively cooperating in the "war" initiated early last summer, Mitchell explained.

Federal laws, especially the income tax statute, are being invoked against racketeers wherever local or prosecuting officials are unable to obtain convictions in their own courts.

Mitchell said his department has assigned a special agency in Chicago.

Government agencies cooperating against gangsters include the justice department, prohibition bureau, narcotic bureau, immigration service, secret service, industrial alcohol bureau, coast guard and customs service.

The federal laws invoked are principally the income tax law which carries heavy penalties for failure to report all income and requires the defendant to prove his innocence; the Harrison anti-narcotic law, the Mann white slave act, the Volstead act, and the "Dry" automobile theft act.

Mitchell said each government agency involved has increased its force in Chicago to provide a greater measure of cooperation with local officials.

Mother Relents, Pair Will Wed

MARTINEZ, Nov. 21.—UP—Arrested on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor after he had filed intention to wed an 18-year-old Hayward girl, Rafael Medina, 26, today gained the assent of Mrs. Paula Gonzales, the girl's mother, through the mediation of Jacob Harder, Justice of the Peace of Hayward, and the couple will be married here probably tomorrow.

Medina with Miss Guadalupe Gonzales left Hayward Sunday and had been here awaiting the required time before the marriage license was to have been issued.

The girl had been living in an apartment while Medina had stayed with friends, he said. Mrs. Gonzales read of the intended marriage of her daughter with Medina and immediately swore out a warrant for the latter's arrest. She declared that her daughter was only 13.

In court this morning the two agreed to see Justice Harder in Hayward, who arranged a peaceable settlement of the triangle, and the two were granted permission to go through with their announced intention.

Carrier Pigeon
Goes 'A W O L'

DALLAS, Texas, Nov. 21.—UP—Army pigeon No. 28, reported to be A. W. O. L. from his post of duty, was released by army officials at Hensley field today and admonished to get back on the job.

After flying 1400 miles to Dallas from Washington in less than 48 hours, the bird decided to take time out and visit with the steno-occupiers in the Texas & Pacific Railway offices.

The carrier pigeon fluttered up in the air and headed west, presumably bound for its Catalina Island, Cal., station. Pigeon No. 76 arrived here after No. 26, and continued in its line of duty westward with little delay.

commerce department for nearly three years, he never has drawn a cent of pay, it was learned today. He was here for another meeting with aeronautics branch officials.

Lindbergh was placed on the department's roster as a technical advisor at a salary of $25 a day soon after his New York to Paris flight in 1927.

DO-X May Hop Atlantic Soon

SANTANDER, Spain, Nov. 21.—UP—Contradicting previous intimations of Dornier officials, Dr. Claude Dornier, designer of the big German flying boat, insisted upon the plane's arrival here today that it would fly the Atlantic at a time, however, which depended entirely upon weather conditions.

The DO-X flew 150 miles across the Bay of Biscay from Bordeaux, France, landing at 2:10. Inclement weather caused the big plane to land here instead of continuing on to Corunna, 225 miles farther along the coast of Spain.

Dr. Dornier said the flight to the United States had not been abandoned. He admitted, however, that the date was uncertain, and that everything depended on atmospheric conditions.

HOUSTON, Texas, Nov. 21.—UP—Admonished to "fight and pray" for prohibition and defend the leadership of President Hoover in law enforcement, against attacks of the "wet press" delegates to the national Women's Christian Temperance Union convention left for their homes tonight.

The executive board awarded the 1932 convention to Seattle at the closing session. Mrs. Claude de Van Watts, of Austin, Texas, was chosen president of the presidents' council, which includes presidents of all state unions.

A campaign to wage opposition to critics of President Hoover was adopted by the executive committee on motion of Mrs. Elizabeth Preston Anderson, president of the North Dakota union.

Delegates were urged to carry the temperance battle to their feet, and to fight and pray against inroads of the "wets."

TRIAL DELAYED FOR MURDER SUSPECT

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 21.—UP—A request by Wallace McCamant, attorney for Nelson C. Bowles, under arrest charged with murder in connection with the death of his wife, Mrs. Leone Bowles, that Bowles be transferred to the county jail from the city jail because of "better living conditions," was denied by authorities today.

McCament made the request at McCament's office, in the belief that the better living conditions at the county jail would be better for his client, Bowles, however, declared that he would not as soon remain at the city jail.

The preliminary hearing of Bowles and Miss Irma Loucks, his former personal stenographer, who is also charged with murder in connection with the fatal stabbing of Mrs. Leone Bowles over a week ago, was postponed again Friday.

The postponement of the preliminary hearing is valid for only one day, but the district attorney's office can make such a request every day for a week, declaring it needs additional time in which to uncover evidence. If, at the end of a week, however, the defense demands a preliminary hearing, such a hearing must be granted.

William H. Cutlers, head of the Northwest Credit company, and Dr. Paul B. Cooper, attendant physician at the time of Mrs. Bowles' death, both had $2500 surety bonds approved today, by the clerk of the municipal court, to insure their appearance as material witnesses whenever called by authorities.

Miss Loucks was still confined to her hospital bed Friday, after Dr. Fred Zeigler, attending her, declared that she was still too weak to be moved to the city jail. Miss Loucks, after successful days of questioning by authorities, was reported to have suffered a form of hysteria.

Man Jailed On Gun Charges

A sentence of six months in the county jail was given James A. Petty, 752 McLaughlin avenue, yesterday by Police Judge C. A. Odell on a charge of carrying a deadly weapon.

The original charge was assault with intent to commit murder. Otto Fenske alleged that Petty threatened him with a gun. Fenske charged that he saved himself from being shot by pushing the barrel of the gun aside, the shot shattering a window. The shooting occurred during an alleged fight.

Unwritten Law

EL PASO, Tex., Nov. 21.—UP—A jury in district court here today found A. M. Hancock, 35, guilty of murdering his best friend, Henry Harrison, 45.

On Hancock's plea of the unwritten law, the jury recommended leniency and he was given a suspended sentence of two years in the state penitentiary.

Hancock killed Harrison here two months ago because of his wife's alleged associations with Harrison.

Record Flier Badly Injured In Ground Loop

COLON, C. Z., Nov. 21.—UP—Capt. Roy W. Ammel, Chicago broker, was injured today when his speedy monoplane Blue Flash skidded and cracked up at the start of an attempted non-stop flight from Anton, Panama to his home city.

The flier, brought here by transport plane and examined at Gorgas hospital, was found to be in no immediate danger. There were cuts on his hands and face and a bruise on the back of his neck and he complained of back pains, but physicians said unless there were internal injuries he would recover.

Ammel flew here from New York last week without a stop and today he set off on the return journey in the Lockheed low-winged monoplane which is somewhat similar to the craft flown by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh. The Blue Flash had been thoroughly overhauled yesterday and Ammel flew it this morning from France field to Anton, 80 miles away.

Ammel stopped there to fuel his ship and supervise last minute tests. The new airport at Anton is uneven and loosely packed.

Before Ammel could get the heavily loaded plane off the ground it struck a wet spot on the runway and skidded perilously. In a half round loop, the plane reared up and spun crashing on its tail.

A large crowd, in which were United States Army fliers and other Americans, ran across the field to the plane and found Ammel unconscious. A message to the Army flying field brought a transport plane and the injured flier was

Star Found Slain

WASHINGTON, Nov. 21.—Death of Aarvi Nurmi, second cousin of the famous Paavo Nurmi, distance star in Takoma Park, Md., was either murder or suicide.

Police were today holding two companions of the dead 26 year old census worker found near his home in Takoma Park. The two men held were Henry W. McGuire, 29 and John J. O'Brien, 26 who police said had been drinking with Nurmi.

POLICE PROBE DEATH OF MAN

BRENTWOOD, Nov. 21.—Because there were no powder marks on the forehead of Arthur Holden, 36, found dead near a hospital operated by his wife, Dr. N. Catherine Holden, Contra Costa county authorities were conducting an investigation today to clear up any doubt about the supposed suicide.

Mystery was added to the case when Dr. Holden told authorities that her husband had threatened to "get" her 24 year old son, Hugh Ernst, when he came into the bedroom where her husband was mistreating her.

Dr. Holden told authorities that she urged her son to leave the house, that no violence might occur Holden quit the place and a short time afterwards a shot was heard and mother and son went to the yard to find the husband dead with a 22 calibre rifle bullet in his head.

Bulle in His Head

Prof. O. Heinrich, Berkeley criminologist was to examine the rifle for finger prints. Dr. Holden said the rifle with which her husband had shot himself was carried in the family automobile and was used to shoot rabbits.

James Hoey, deputy district attorney declared the investigation was being made only to satisfy all concerned that the death of Holden was suicide. He declared at that time that they were practically assured that the story told by the surviving principals was correct.

Dr. Holden told police that previous to the quarrel in which she engaged with her husband that he had been drinking heavily. She reported picking him up on a downtown street and taking him home.

Stomach of the dead man was sent to the University of California for examination to determine if the contents were liquor.
